It could apply to other countries also. 0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Shame to all the hospitals and doctors By sandeep The book tells more about how the doctors are loading the society by telling that they are well qualified in curing that is in the sun on government is also encouraging more of private medical sector instead of developing government sector hospitals by this we can say how to corruption levels in our society

Complaints about the state of medical care are increasing in today's India: whether its unnecessary investigations, botched operations or expensive sometimes even harmful medication. But while the unease is widespread, few outside the profession understand the extent to which the medical system is being distorted. Dr Arun Gadre and Dr Abhay Shukla have gathered evidence from seventy-eight practising doctors, in both the private and public medical sectors, to expose the ways in which vulnerable patients are exploited by a system that promotes unscrupulous medical practices. At a time when the medical sector is growing rapidly, especially in urban areas, with the proliferation of multi-specialty hospitals and the adoption of ever-more sophisticated technologies, rational and ethical medical care is becoming increasingly rare. Honest doctors feel under siege, professional bodies meant to regulate the medical sector fail to do so, and the influence of the powerful pharmaceutical industry becomes even more pervasive. Drawing on the frank and courageous statements of these seventy-eight doctors dismayed at the state of their profession, Dissenting Diagnosis lays bare the corruption afflicting the medical sector in India and sets out solutions for a healthier future.

About the Author Dr Arun Gadre is a gynaecologist. He practised in a drought-prone area of rural Maharashtra for twenty years. He left private practice to work as a coordinator of a Pune-based NGO, SATHI, which specializes in policy advocacy related to health care in India. Dr Gadre is the author of seventeen books in Marathi, including six novels, and is a recipient of several literary awards. Dr Abhay Shukla is a public health physician, with a postgraduate degree in community medicine from the All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi. He has worked on health issues in collaboration with people's movements and grassroots NGOs in Maharashtra for two decades. He is a national convener of Jan Swasthya Abhiyan (People's Health Movement India) and has facilitated public hearings on right to health care across the country.
