Elizabeth Fisher, Bettina Lange, Eloise Scotford : Environmental Law: Text, Cases Materials (Text, Cases, and Materials) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Environmental Law: Text, Cases Materials (Text, Cases, and Materials):

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By zheous Really amazing! If you are student or professional to study risk regulation, you should read this book!

This new title in the popular Text, Cases, and Materials series provides students with a thorough understanding of environmental law while also encouraging critical reflection and pointing out areas of controversy and debate. The authors present an impressive range of extracts from UK and international cases, legislation, and articles, to help support learning and demonstrate how the law works in practice, clearly guiding students through key areas while providing insightful explanations and analysis. Topics have been carefully selected to support a wide range of environmental law courses and include pollution, conservation, town planning, and water regulation as well as considering environmental law in relation to the EU and from an international perspective. With its unique combination of extracts and author discussion, this new text provides a comprehensive and convenient guide to environmental law which can be relied upon throughout your course and career. This book is also accompanied by an Online Resource Centre which features updates to the law, further reading suggestions and useful weblinks.

"The authors demonstrate an excellent knowledge of environmental law and communicate that knowledge well, providing an insightful review and analysis of a highly complex area without overburdening the reader." --Valerie Fogleman, Professor of Law, Cardiff University; Consultant, Stevens and Bolton LLP
"The approach is excellent and very user-friendly. In my view, this book will be a leading source of learning in its area." --Malgosia Fitzmaurice, Professor of Public International Law, Queen Mary University of London
